ETHICAL SPACE:

The nature of our encounters

10

11

That space of encounter:

Sacred Space

Middle ground

Third Space

Encounter Culture

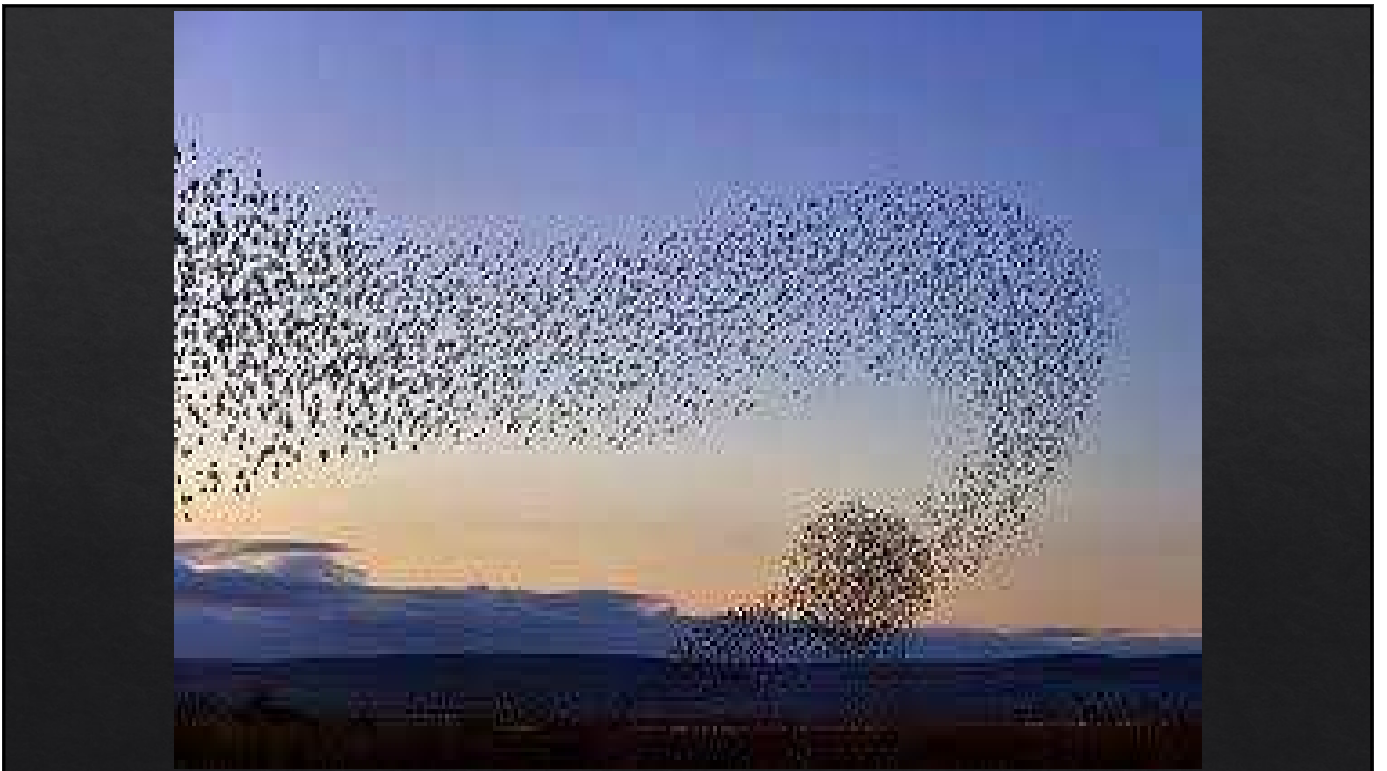

The Cave

Space between you and me

12

13

14

THE ETHICAL SPACE IS ABOUT...

HOW WE TREAT

(interact, engage, connect, encounter)

SENTIENCE

How we treat aliveness

15

In the Indigenous Worldview, this sentience is recognized within the realms of:

Human

Nature / Ecology

Spiritual / Super Nature

16

Atamiskāw

Atam – root word for thankfulness

Iskāw – root word for journey (in life)

- or ...having great impact

17

The human experience is made up of encounters

experiences

We are the experiencers

We can create great experience

19

The Encounter:

Every encounter we have is an encounter of unknowns

We may not know how to react, how to interact, especially so in the face of difference

We can either be competent

...or turn incompetent

20

The Future is:

is also an encounter
the journey to the unknown...
How we approach the future

21

This encounter is subjected to
An invisible field of influence

It is within this invisible field that the real nature of encounters is determined

22

The Ethical Space :

- Does not exist unless acknowledged
- At play at our decision points
- An unseen, influential driver
- Can create enrichment and gratitude

23

In the face of these unknowns, these encounters, we have a tendency to cling to guiding rules, the policies, to the way things have been done, we can call this... inertia

This inertia has taken away our ability to

DREAM
TO BE OURSELVES
TO KNOW OUR GIFTS

24

Protocols

How we negotiate the interface of our encounter

The way things are done according to agreements
of

Human, nature, super-nature

25

Entering the Ethical Space (tentative steps)

Atamskow (In fur trade times, Cree had protocols of pipe ceremony, gifting, and oratory upon meeting other nations before anything else, relativize)

Acknowledgement of sentience by name, presence

Feed the encounter (Haudenosaunee believe everyone is rational, start with a meal)

Orality (First Nation practice of acknowledging, greeting, intent, gratitude, friendship ties, upon meeting)

Context Creation (Shifting from mind to spirit, getting out of mental cages, to talk human to human)

Dialogue process (human to human, leaving out titles, agenda, heart to heart)

Future (dream, visioning collective goal)

26

It all starts with a dream

CREATION

27

VALUE ADDITIONS

Creation Narrative:

Compassion

Mystery

Strength

28

E- wêyôtahk

Dreams
Visioning
Intuition
Sensitivities
giftedness

29

IN THE PURSUIT OF OUR FUTURE

"Our minds come from a long way"

"E – ihkin anima"

30

We humble ourselves before the Creator
We acknowledge we are unable to see the future
We admit we are helpless without spiritual assistance
We ask the spirit beings to guide us, to show us the way
We ask the spirit beings to move the energies for us
In this way we create our days
We create the future

For the sake of our children and grandchildren
